The fierce urgency of Peace

Peace, justice, human rights and care for the planet, how do we get there?

The FoR is a faith-shaped peace, justice and nonviolence movement founded in 1914. Since then branches have grown around the world to form a global network. In his time with the Fellowship they have launched a podcast, seen a growth in membership and started exploring both intersectional perspectives on peace and the links between climate change, war and peace.

John has worked on questions of peace and justice in different church spaces and is always keen that people of faith are active in a vibrant civil society.
